SENATORS PUT
LOW LIMIT ON
BUDGET CUTSVANDENBERG BACKS
UP $4,500,000,000
REDUCTION

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said today that slashing Army-Navy funds would put Uncle Sam's arms in a sling and might "jeopardize our winning of the peace."

His speech on the Senate floor appeared to clinch the prospect that the Senate will vote for only a $4,500,000,000 slash in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget, instead of the $6,000,000,000 cut approved by the House.

But with senators demanding more time for debate, Republican leaders gave up hopes for obtaining a vote today on a resolution recommending a ceiling on expenditures for the fiscal year starting July 1. The vote is now expected to come Monday.

"Chips Are Down"

Vandenberg, the Senate's presiding officer and chairman of its foreign relations committee, spoke for the $4,500,000,000 reduction.

"This year of all years, when the chips are down, we dare not present to the world a picture of a pacifist America retreating into its vulnerable shell—a picture of Uncle Sam with a chip on each shoulder and both arms in a sling," he declared, reporting that other nations are increasing their military power.

Senator Maybank (D-S. C.) read a news dispatch from Moscow to the effect that Russia's projected military expenditures are $4,000,000,000 larger than the $11,200,000,000 President Truman asked for the Army and Navy.

Vandenberg's decision to support the smaller cut lined him up with about half of the Republicans and most of the Democrats.

Chairman Bridges (R-N. H.) of the Senate appropriations committee, sponsoring the larger reduction, conceded to a reporter that it has no chance.

Prestige Menaced

Vandenberg observed that Secretary of State Marshall had said that a "practically impossible situation" would be created for American troops abroad if the people of occupied countries were left without food. He recalled that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had said, "Send me food or send me soldiers."

"And we propose to take both away from him," the Michigan senator said.

Along with Maybank, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said he is opposed to any cut in the president's budget. He contended either the $4,500,000,000 or the $6,000,000,000 slash would "undermine our prestige among the nations of the world, make our foreign policy less effective and play directly into the hands of Communist Russia."

But Senator Hawkes (R-N. J.) held it "a confession of weakness" to say that the Army and Navy can't get along on a $10,000,000,000 outlay.

New Bonus Bonds
Are Eligible For Covering Deposits

Lansing, Feb. 21 (P)—The state's forthcoming veterans' bonus bonds will be eligible for covering state deposits, State Treasurer D. Hale Brake informed Michigan banks today.

Until now, banks have been permitted to use only federal government securities as security for state deposits.

RESCUE WORKERS CROWD LOS ANGELES BLAST SCENE
Rescue workers and spectators swarmed over rubble cluttered Los Angeles, Cal., street after an explosion in a chromium-plating plant almost completely demolished a city block. At least 15 persons were killed, and more than 200 injured. All available ambulances were rushed to the scene and thousands of volunteer rescue workers joined police and firemen in searching the ruins for victims. (NEA Telephoto.)

FIRE APPARATUS
FIRMS INDICTEDMonopoly Plot Charged
To American-LaFrance
and Seagrave Corp.

Columbus, O., Feb. 21 (P)—Two corporations which the government says sell American cities 60 per cent of their motor-driven fire apparatus were charged today with conspiracy to restrain and monopolize production and distribution of such equipment.

A federal grand jury indicted the Seagrave Corp. of Columbus, the American-LaFrance-Foamite Corp. of Elmira, N. Y., and four officers—Howard B. Spain, president, and James L. Stevenson, vice president, of Seagrave Corp., and Edward E. O'Neill, president, and James O. Binford, vice president, of the Elmira firm.

The indictment said the two corporations sold $3,588,366 worth of equipment in 1945, with Seagrave selling $1,487,357 of that amount.

Since 1939, the indictment charged, the two corporations have been engaged in a "combination and conspiracy" in which they agreed upon terms of sale, prices to be charged and trade-in allowances to be given for equipment sold in the United States and foreign countries.

The companies also used their influence to have municipalities and government agencies draw plans and specifications in a way to prevent other concerns from bidding, the indictment said.

Merchant Shipping
Authority Extended

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—The senate completed legislative action today on a measure requested by President Truman to extend wartime authority of the maritime commission to operate merchant shipping.

Senator White of Maine, the Republican leader, explained that the bill, which now goes to the White House, extends until July 1 the authority which has expired March 1.

Infant Doing Fine,
Weights 20 Ounces

Glendale, Ariz., Feb. 21 (P)—Dr. Muri E. Fulk said today a 20-ounce baby boy born Monday night was "doing fine" today in an incubator at a maternity home.

Dr. Fulk said he could hold the infant in the palm of his hand.

"He is active and cries like a normal child," the doctor reported.

The baby was born prematurely to Mrs. Frank Mariscal of Glendale who, Dr. Fulk said, gave birth to a child eight months ago.

BASEMAN ON SHELF

St. Louis, Feb. 21 (P)—First Baseman Ray Sanders may be lost to the Boston Braves for three to six months, attendants at St. John's hospital said today.

Sanders, whose left arm was shattered last August in a collision with a base-runner, underwent his second operation yesterday. Attendances said he will not have full use of his arm for several months although the operation was pronounced a success.

Boxcar Shortages
Cripple Industry;
Newspapers Slash

(By The Associated Press)

Pyramiding effects of the worst shortage of boxcars in 20 years Friday caused slashes in manufacturing output and employment, and brought rationing of space by many daily newspapers.

Flour mills were heavily affected; some closed while others reported in an Associated Press survey said production was down as much as 40 per cent.

Finished goods for which shipping space could not be found was reported jamming warehouses and threatening industrial shutdowns.

Pinched by failure of newspaper shipments to arrive, daily papers in several cities adopted plans to stretch their supply. The Detroit (Mich.) News and Quincey (Mass.) Patriot-Ledger announced they would eliminate advertising from some editions next week.

The Danbury (Conn.) Times said it was "drastically reducing" the size of its paper, while in Miami, Fla., the Herald and the Daily News were carefully rationing advertising space.

NEGRO CHASER
DRAWS 3 YEARSLeader Of Columbians
Says Courts Can't Stop His Campaign

BY JOHN HURT

Atlanta, Feb. 21 (P)—Dapper Emory Burke, who gave up his job as a railroad draftsman to lead the Columbians, Inc., in their crusade against Negroes and Jews, drew a three-year prison sentence today but declared "a few court cases are not going to stop this movement."

The 31-year-old Atlantan, nattily attired in a dark blue suit, heard the sentence without emotion. He was convicted of usurping police powers in directing patrols to move against Negroes in white residential areas.

He was equally unconcerned as he made a $3,000 bond pending argument on a new trial motion May 17, reiterating that if foes of the Columbians think "they are going to win by these tactics (court prosecution) they are dead wrong."

Burke still faces prosecution on two other indictments. One charges riot, on which Columbian Secretary Homer L. Loomis, Jr., drew a one-year sentence last week, and the other charges illegal possession of dynamite. Loomis also is to be tried on the dynamite and usurpation charges.

"These rascals are trying to destroy the white race and they are going to be defeated," Burke told newsmen of his prosecutors. He explained "they are trying to destroy the white race through intermarriage" with Negroes.

LUCKY LUCIANO
LIGHTS IN CUBA

Drug Shipments Halted
By U. S. Until Vice
Czar Is Ousted

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—In a pointed hint to Cuba to give Charles "Lucky" Luciano his walking papers, the United States has cut off all shipments of narcotics drugs to the Caribbean Island.

Deported from this country to Italy after a long prison term, the one-time New York vice czar is reported to have found haven in Havana and once again to be flourishing there.

Acting swiftly on word of Luciano's presence, Federal Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger announced the ban on further supplies of narcotics to Cuba.

The Cuban government has been advised, he said, that the ban will continue as long as Luciano remains there.

"We can't afford to risk diversion of the drugs," Anslinger told a reporter. He said narcotics shipped to Cuba in the past have been smuggled back into this country for illicit purposes.

The United States is the chief source of narcotic supplies to Cuba, but they are intended solely for medical purposes, he said.

Luciano won his soubriquet of "Lucky" more than a decade ago when every racket he exploited—dope, white slavery, gambling—turned to gold.

While other hoodlums eventually found their way behind bars, Luciano, a slat-eyed Sicilian whose name was always spoken in whispers, somehow managed to "beat the rap." Lucky was right—until a young Owosso, Mich., lawyer named Thomas E. Dewey was named special prosecutor to investigate New York rackets.

In a sensational midnight roundup, Dewey gathered in scores of Manhattan prostitutes, and patiently, over and over, asked them what they knew about a man named "Lucky." Somebody talked. Then one after another, they testified they had paid Luciano for protection.

Convicted, Luciano served his time and then dropped out of sight after being sent back to Italy.

Anslinger said it was a mystery how Luciano managed to slip back to Havana, his playground of the racketeering 30's.

Stowaways Horrify
Ship Before Capture

Houston, Feb. 21 (P)—Members of the SS Single Hitch, which docked here today, related that they awakened one morning at sea to find snakes crawling over the deck.

Chief Mate A. B. Taylor said that a frantic investigation showed the snakes were 14 baby boa constrictors born the previous night to one of the 89 crated boas being shipped to W. A. King at Brownsville, Tex.

The 20-inch infants were kept in a wire-topped cage and delivered safely to King, who owns a snake ranch. The boa shipment was sent him by his brother, M. King, Barranquilla, Colombia.

SIGLER MAPS
OUT TEST FOR TAX DIVERSIONRULING OF SUPREME COURT PUSHED TO DECIDE ISSUE

Lansing, Feb. 21 (P)—Governor Sigler disclosed today a legal strategem has been found by which a supreme court interpretation of the sales tax diversion amendment could be sought quickly.

Sigler has made such a test case the key to a new solution to the state's fiscal problem, resulting from the amendment. The legislature, he said, cannot solve the problem until the amendment is clarified.

The governor said Roscoe O. Bonisteel, prominent Ann Arbor attorney retained by the Michigan Education Association, would file a mandamus action in the supreme court "in a few days" to force State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, Auditor General Muri K. Aten, and State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims to distribute the diversion money to local governments.

Date Questioned

The strategem involves the effective date of the amendment. It had been considered that the amendment was effective December 5 and that the first quarterly payments under the amendment therefore were not due until March 5. Hence, a suit could not be instituted until some local unit had been denied payment on that date.

Sigler said that since the state's fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30, "it may logically be contended that last December 31 was the end of a quarterly period and the first date upon which the diversion should have been paid."

"I'm not saying that theory is right," the governor emphasized, "but it provides a theory on which court proceedings can be brought at this time, instead of waiting until March 5."

Attorney General Eugene F. Black and other state officials, Sigler said, will cooperate with the M.E.A. to get the case before the supreme court at the earliest possible moment. Once the suit has been filed, Sigler said, Black can ask the court for a determination of other legal issues involved and any local unit of government may petition the court for permission to intervene.

JURY CONVICTS WOMAN BANDIT

Syringe Bank Robber
Faces Life Term
In Des Moines

Des Moines, Feb. 21 (P)—An all-woman jury late today convicted Mrs. Opal Dixon, 35, on a charge of entering a bank with intent to rob. The conviction carries a mandatory life sentence.

The jury deliberated five hours and nine minutes before arriving at its verdict.

She was tried for the $2,950 "hypodermic syringe" robbery of the Des Moines Bank and Trust Co. Jan. 22.

Mrs. Dixon was calm as the verdict was announced and did not even look up at the jury. The jury members, too, avoided looking at Mrs. Dixon.

District Judge Russell Jordan said the attractive, dark-haired mother of two married teen-agers would be formally sentenced Feb. 28.

In giving the case to the jurors at 10:21 a. m. (CST) Judge Jordan said they could rule only on the one charge on which she was tried—entering a bank with intent to rob.

"She is not on trial for any other offense," he said.

While the jury deliberated the U. S. district attorney's office issued a warrant charging Mrs. Dixon with the robbery last Dec. 26 of the Union Savings Bank of St. Louis. The warrant would have been served in the event of her acquittal here.

Mrs. Dixon's "weapon" in the Des Moines robbery was a hypodermic syringe containing mouthwash which she threatened could "blow this place to pieces."

DR. BRUCE REPLACED

Lansing, Feb. 21 (P)—Governor Sigler today appointed Dr. Howard H. Cummings of Ann Arbor to the tuberculosis sanatorium announced to succeed the late Dr. James D. Bruce whose uncompleted term runs until Oct. 9. Dr. Cummings is a former professor of gynecology and obstetrics at the University of Michigan.

Bodies Hunted
In Rubble At
Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Feb. 21 (P)—The grim hunt for additional bodies continued today in the blasted rubble of a downtown electroplating concern, where at least 15 persons were killed yesterday in an explosion that shook the whole of Los Angeles.

Two others are missing and it was feared some of the 158 persons seriously hurt may yet succumb to their injuries. Property damage was estimated at more than $1,500,000.

Missing in the explosion are Dr. Robert McGee, chief chemist and metallurgist of the O'Connor Electro-Plating Corp., and his assistant, Alice Iba, 21-year-old Japanese girl. Both were in his office at the time of the explosion and are believed to have been buried in the wreckage of the plant.

Investigation of the exact cause of the explosion revolves around McGee, credited with evolving a new process employing a perchloric acid concentrate in the plating of aluminum chairs and davenport covers in government service hospitals.

Plastic Frame Blamed

Deputy Fire Chief Earl H. Richardson, estimating the damage at $1,500,000, said he had been informed by Robert Gattas, a plater who survived the blast, that a screen with a plastic frame had been inserted into a perchloric acid vat shortly before the plant and four nearby houses were blown to bits.

"That probably caused the explosion," said Richardson. "All plastics are organic matter, and if plastic went into the perchloric acid vat, there was bound to be an explosion."

Police Inspector James Lawrence said it would be some time before the exact death toll is known. Tons upon tons of debris must be cleared. Excavation today began turning up pathetic evidences of tragedy, shoes, bits of clothing, dead pets, occasionally an arm or hand.

Twenty-five buildings in the blast area, situated slightly more than a mile from the civic center, have been condemned because the foundations were undermined. Seven hundred persons were homeless and Red Cross mobile kitchen units were feeding many of them. A tabulation of hospital cases showed 158 persons were seriously hurt in the blast, while hundreds more, cut by flying glass and metal, were treated at the scene and sent home.

Humor Dry And Face
Red — Senator Flees

Des Moines, Feb. 21 (P)—An unexpected musical "filibuster" was staged in the Iowa Senate by an old fashioned music box which ground out "How Dry I Am" during debate on a liquor bill.

It started as a joke by a senator who set the machine to playing during the height of debate, and then discovered he couldn't stop the music from going "round and round."

The box had rolled out several encores when the senator scurried to a cloakroom with his machine and put an end to the song.

SUGAR INCREASE
PROMISED U.S.A.

New Allocation Will Be
About 17 Pounds Over
Last Year's Quota

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—Americans will get about 17 pounds of sugar per capita more this year than last under international allocations announced tonight.

The International Emergency Food Council, charged with dividing the world's supplies of scarce foods, allotted the United States enough sugar to provide 90 pounds of refined sugar per capita. Last year's supply was 73 pounds and pre-war consumption averaged 96 pounds.

The American share will be used to supply individual consumers as well as industrial and institutional users.

No announcement was made as to how the allocation will be divided among these classes of consumers. This decision rests with the agriculture department and the Office of Price Administration.

Last year individual consumers got 25 pounds through ration stamps, with the remainder of the 73 pounds going to institutions and industrial users. The latter include food manufacturers, candy makers, soft drink bottlers and others.

The OPA already has announced, however, that the individual ration allowance will be increased five pounds effective April 1. Food officials have indicated that the individual consumer allowance will be at least 35 pounds this year.

STORM RAGES
FROM VIRGINIA
UP TO MAINENEW YORK BATTLES
DRIFTS; CAPITOL
HAS 7 INCHES

New York, Feb. 21 (P)—Declining temperatures and freezing winds laid their chilled grip on the east tonight, following in the wake of a raging snowstorm which took a toll of at least 44 lives, snarled air and surface transportation and impeded industrial operations.

The storm, heaviest in recent years, moved out to sea today after gripping areas from Maine to Alabama and continuing unabated in some sections for almost 24 hours. A record fall of 27 inches was reported at Dickerson county, Va.

Chief causes of death were over-exertion from shoveling and traffic accidents. The toll by states:

New Jersey, 13; Pennsylvania, 16; New York, 3; Connecticut, 5; Illinois, 2; Massachusetts, 1; District of Columbia, 3; Delaware, 1.

In New York City, nerve center of eastern seaboard transportation, an army of 10,000 men and removal equipment struggled to clear wind-whipped streets of nearly 12 inches of snow.

For the first time in its history a meeting of the United Nations Security Council was postponed at Lake Success, N. Y. The reason—too much snow.

Truman Avoids Snow

Trains crawled slowly in the vast metropolitan area of 7,000,000 persons with resultant absenteeism slowing industry. At least 350 schools were closed in the greater New York area.

The picture was similar from Maine to Virginia. In Virginia, one of the hardest hit states, schools were closed in 28 of 100 counties.

The nation's capital wallowed in seven inches of unaccustomed snow, slowing activities in federal offices and forcing President Truman to forego his usual early morning walk.

Even the stork had to fight his way.

In Philadelphia, digging out of 10 inches of snow, police cars and emergency trucks succeeded in getting 25 momentarily expectant mothers to hospitals. In Saugus,

Pig Iron Controls
Tangle Up Industry,
Rep. Shafer Claims

Washington, Feb. 21 (P)—Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) said today the Civilian Production Administration's allocations of pig iron "have caused a snafu in industry generally."

"Too much pig iron is being allocated to industries which are supposed to be servicing contractors who are supposed to be building homes," he told the House.

Declaring government control of pig iron "threatens to stall the production of automobiles and other essential items," he maintained "much" of the pig iron "is finding its way into the black market."

ESCANABAN IS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted Of Taking Child To Conceal From Mother

Bessmer—A circuit court jury found Herbert Nelson, 23, of Escanaba, guilty of forcibly taking and carrying away Carl David Nelson, 3, with the intent to conceal him from his mother, Mrs. Constance Victor Nelson, Ramsay, on July 3, 1946. The jury was out four hours.

Opening the February term of circuit court with Judge T. J. Landers presiding, the trial was in progress on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Testimony submitted revealed that on July 3, 1946, Carl David Nelson was taken from the grounds of the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Victor, at Ramsay, where he was visiting together with his mother, Mrs. Constance Nelson. He was carried away in a car and has not been returned to date. Occupants of the car were Carl Nelson, father of the child; Herbert Nelson, defendant, uncle of the child, and two friends of Herbert's from Iron Mountain, Jack Berquist and William Van Lanen.

Issue In Case

The main issue which developed in the trial, concerned who actually picked up the child and carried him to the car. Both Carl and Herbert Nelson were out of the car, according to testimony. The people's witnesses, who claimed to have seen the quartet both on July 2, when they were looking over the Victor residence, and to have seen Herbert Nelson at close range on the day the child was taken, identified Herbert Nelson as the man whom they saw taking the child.

Identification was made by his style of walking, his facial and physical characteristics and his clothing.

Defense witnesses, the friends who accompanied the brothers, claimed that Carl, the father, took the child, and Herbert served in the capacity of "look-out."

Interpreting the law, Judge Landers stated that since the custody of the child had not been granted to either parent by a competent court of jurisdiction, possession of the child was the equal right of both parents. If Carl, the father, took the child, it could not be termed a criminal offense and Herbert could not be found guilty of a criminal offense by assisting or aiding his brother. The defendant, Herbert Nelson, was by law innocent until his guilt had been proven beyond a reasonable doubt, said the court.

Motion Is Denied

The burden of proving his guilt rested with the people, plaintiffs in the case. To find him guilty, the court said, the plaintiffs must prove, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant abducted and concealed the child of his own violation, without being urged, ordered or controlled by the father of the child. Judge Landers charged the jury to judge the case by the weight of the testimony. Possible verdicts were guilty or not guilty.

Report Official Vote In Circuit Judge Primary

Official figures of the vote polled by the nominees in the primary contest for circuit court judge of the 25th district indicate that Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone and Ray Derham of Iron Mountain will be rivals in a hotly contested battle for votes in the general election April 7.

In the primary last Monday Jackson polled a total of 9512 votes in the five counties comprising the judicial district, and Derham received 9579—giving the latter nominee a slim 67-vote edge.

Jackson and Derham received the largest vote of the five candidates in the primary field and won nomination. Their names will appear on the ballot April 7 when the voters will decide which shall be elected circuit judge for a six-year term.

The winner will take office Jan. 1, 1948, following the expiration of the term of Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee, who was not a candidate for reelection. The contest is the first in the history of the circuit, all previous candidates being nominated and elected without opposition.

In Delta county the canvassing board completed its work yesterday and reported the official vote. John Wolf, chairman of the board, said that it had been necessary to have the inspectors complete their work in the tally and statement books. A list of recommendations to the precinct election officials is being prepared by the board of canvassers composed of Wolf, J. F. Richardson of Gladstone, and Ed LaMotte of Garden. County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen is clerk of the board.

The official primary vote in Delta county by precincts is as follows:

Wholesale Prices Hit Postwar Peak

Washington—(AP)—The Bureau of Labor statistics reported today that wholesale prices hit a new post-war peak in the week ended February 15, reaching 143.1 percent of the 1926 price average.

At that level, BLS said, its wholesale price index stood 1.6 percent higher than in mid-January this year and 33.5 percent higher than the corresponding week a year ago.

The agency said the rise during the week was principally due to higher prices for agricultural commodities, led by grain, livestock, poultry, fruits and vegetables, and cotton.

CORPS BUILDS NEW ADDITION

Salvation Army To Sell Property At 614 Ludington

The Escanaba corps of the Salvation Army plans to construct an addition to its building at 112-116 North 15th street and will handle the distribution of clothing and furniture to the needy from that location, it was announced yesterday by corps officers.

The building at 614 Ludington street, also owned by the Salvation Army, which now is used for the distribution of clothing, will probably be sold within the near future.

The new structure will be about 20 by 40 feet in size and will be constructed of concrete blocks. Other improvements will also be made on the main building which will facilitate the work of the Salvation Army among boys and girls. Lawson and Olson have been awarded the contract.

By concentrating all of its work at one center, the Salvation Army feels that it will be able to increase its efficiency and to save expenses. Also the new arrangement will be more convenient for those who come to the organization for assistance.

Fire Control Plans Are Discussed Here

Plans for the control and prevention of fires starting from railroad sparks were discussed at a meeting C&NW railroad officials and conservation department officers held Thursday in the office of T. M. Cassidy, Peninsula division superintendent.

Following several years in which locomotive sparks as a cause of forest fires jumped from seventh to second place last year, the conference is expected to bring closer cooperation in the prevention of this source of fire danger.

Those attending the meeting included Del Wier of West Branch, locomotive inspector for the conservation department, and Ernest Libby of Marquette, his assistant in the Upper Peninsula.

The railroads are already cooperating in fire prevention by sending speeder patrols following trains; and by screening locomotive stacks. The use of fire breaks along railroad right-of-ways also was discussed.

Bill Pearson Pledged To Alpha Phi Omega

Charles William (Bill) Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Pearson, 114 South 15th street, was among 24 students of Michigan State College, East Lansing, to be received into Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, at its last regular meeting. With new members there are fifty in Michigan State Alpha Phi Omega.

Bill enrolled last September for a pre-medical course following graduation from the Senior high school of this city in the class of 1946. In high school he was active in football, winter sports and was a member of the Glee Club. He is an ROTC student at East Lansing.

Minors Drink Ale; Joy Ride Ends In Death Of Girl, 15

Detroit, (AP)—The State Liquor Control Commission revoked the license of William Frase, 27, of Utica, after finding him guilty of having sold ale to minors on a joy ride that ended in death for a 15-year-old girl.

Jane Louise McKinnon, 15, of Centerline, was killed Feb. 15 when the force of a collision threw her from a car driven by Raymond Goodwin, 19, of Rochester. Her body was struck by another automobile.

Another girl, 16-year-old Freda McGinnis, also of Center Line, was injured.

At the commission hearing, Goodwin told of buying ale at Frase's establishment and then drinking it with the other teenagers while on an early morning ride through Macomb county.

Goodwin was charged with negligent homicide and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

License Bureau Open Evenings, Starting Monday

The motor vehicle license bureau will remain open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. straight through, starting Monday, Feb. 24, as only five days remain before the expiration date of the 1946 plates, William Rangnette, branch office manager, announced yesterday.

Extra clerks will be added to assist motorists in filling out applications.

The evening hours, a courtesy arranged by the Escanaba office, will give motorists who work throughout the day and who are unable to reach the office during regular hours, an opportunity to obtain their plates.

Applicants again are reminded to have titles and registrations for commercial and farm trucks and trailers. In instances in which the 1946 registration has been lost or misplaced, new weight cards must be presented.

The office, now located in the First National Bank building, 109 South Seventh street, ground floor, side entrance, will be open today, Washington's birthday, during the regular hours, 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m.

Scout Troop 453 Will Go On Hike

Scouts of Rotary Troop 453 today will take part in their second overnight hike this year, with the Bill Karas camp on the Escanaba river near Cornell as their destination. The Scouts will meet at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon at the Presbyterian church with their full equipment for the overnight trip.

Equipment included at least four warm blankets or a sleeping bag, food for three meals, over-shoes or high-top rubbers, extra mittens and socks, and individual mess gear and dish cloth.

Tenderfoot Scouts of the troop should be prepared to pass all the required out-of-door tests for second class, including cooking, fire building, use of knife and hatchet, tracking and laying out an acre.

Arrangements will be made on Sunday for Scouts to attend church services. Wallace Watt will be the leader in charge.

2 Are Killed By C&NW Streamliner

Racine, Wis.—Two men were killed instantly when the North-western's crack "400" crashed into their automobile at a Racine crossing yesterday.

Floyd Miller of Racine and Gene Renuzzi of Kenosha were the victims.

Witnesses told officers that the pair was sitting in Renuzzi's car for a freight train to pass. When the freight caboose had cleared in front of them, Renuzzi started across the tracks—apparently not seeing the North Western passenger train.

Authorities say the car was dragged some 200 feet and the engine was thrown an additional 200 feet beyond the spot where the car landed.

Highway Employees To Attend Meeting

Eleven employees of the Escanaba office of the state highway department will leave Sunday afternoon to attend the annual Highway Engineering Conference to be held Feb. 25 to 27 in Grand Rapids.

John H. Barr, president of the county road association, will be presiding officer, and one of the principal speakers will be Governor Siegel.

Employees from Escanaba who will attend the conference are A. A. Anderson, Robert A. McCormick, John A. Owens, Edward J. Kremer, J. F. Bailey, Elmer A. Bessonen, John F. Lang, H. E. Rundie, Thomas McMeekan, F. M. Walker and F. C. Schwarzenberg.

Mutual Will Air Unique Program

A third dimension in radio-listening participation will be presented for the first time when the nation-wide audience actually ear-witnesses the sensations of gradual loss in hearing and takes part in a special dramatization dealing with obstructive deafness during Mutual's science-drama series, "Exploring The Unknown," Sunday, Feb. 23 (8-8:30 p. m. CST).

Program Carried by WDBC. Special sound effects and microphone technique have been devised by producer-director Sherman Dryer and an augmented staff of Mutual technicians.

Soundmen and engineers will be used to reproduce the distorted sounds heard by the deaf.

Revolving paddle-wheels placed in speaking tubes will be used to break up an actor's words into vowel sounds and echo chambers and microphones specially screened to reproduce only the "high" in a human voice will also be used.

In order to insure complete scientific accuracy a special staff of doctors, scientists and auditory experts have aided as consultants for the program.

The dramatization deals with a girl's terror as she slowly and inexorably becomes deaf and how modern medical science performed a miracle.

Short cuts to new Kitchen
Freedom!

Here are just three ways your smart-as-tomorrow Gas kitchen releases you from time-wasting mealtime drudgery.

① It cuts out cooking chores... Your new Gas range is so automatic it cooks for itself... turns on and off... cooks a delicious meal—all by a simple clock control! Makes every food taste better, too... whether it's a feather-light cake from the air-conditioned oven—a flame-roasted ham from the smokeless broiler—or a tasty stew from thrifty simmer-top-burners. For nothing else brings out flavor like the flame. And nothing else equals the speed, ease and flexibility of flame-cooking on a new automatic Gas range built to CP standards!

③ It cuts out hot water headaches... Your new automatic Gas water-heater simply ends "run-cold" worries! Gives you gallons of uniformly hot water 24 hours a day... replaces the supply so fast there's plenty even for an automatic dishwasher and laundry. Amazingly thrifty, too! Plan for it now in your own "New Freedom Gas Kitchen"! How about stopping in, today?

Pro Baseball in Escanaba

IT WOULD cost about $5,000 to launch a professional baseball club in Escanaba, playing in an organized Class C league of the Upper Peninsula and affiliated with that giant enterprise known as organized baseball.

Those baseball leaders and fans who are familiar with so-called independent baseball should not confuse that kind of baseball with organized baseball, which is something more substantial. Organized baseball is developed along a pattern that has been proved successful through years of experience.

Teams in organized baseball, of course, play every day during the season. The ball players do nothing but play ball. That is their job and their career.

Organized baseball is good business for a community. It brings in fans from surrounding communities not once but many times during the season and, of course, these fans spend considerable money in the town. Organized baseball is particularly good for a community like Escanaba which has a highly developed retail trade business.

The community has generously contributed to funds for local festivals and celebrations over the years because it realized the contributions help to make Escanaba a better city.

Funds raised to develop organized baseball in the city serve an even better investment because the benefits accrue on a continuing basis. The initial outlay is not lost either because baseball franchises increase in value.

League baseball games in Escanaba would be twilight games during weekdays, starting at 6:15 o'clock. Sunday games naturally would be played in the afternoon. The Escanaba club would be at one half of the time, or an average of three and a half games per week. That certainly is not too much baseball for a community of this size.

The opportunities that a professional baseball club in Escanaba provides for local youth must be heavily weighed in considering the proposal. Few local ball players have turned to professional baseball as a career because the opportunities were limited. A club located in Escanaba would change all that and local talent naturally would receive primary consideration.

Escanaba can have professional baseball if it wants it. It can be accomplished by concerted effort of the community. The public will get an opportunity to express its desires at a mass meeting to be held next Wednesday night at the city hall council chambers. If you are genuinely interested in a progressive Escanaba, plan to attend that meeting.

Soo Locks Centennial

IN THE year 1855 the first lock was built at the Sault Ste. Marie, providing a passageway for ships from Lake Huron into Lake Superior. Now, nearly 100 years later, it is proposed that the state of Michigan take official cognizance of the approaching centennial and that the governor appoint a commission to plan a fitting celebration. The commission would serve without pay or other expense allowance.

The centennial celebration would be held in 1955—still eight years away. There is no doubt that it would prove immensely popular and would attract visitors not only from all parts of the state but from other states as well. Sault Ste. Marie and the locks are world-famous. The volume of traffic tonnage through them—even in statistics—is impressive. But visitors are more inclined to believe what they see, and the constant movement of freighters carrying grain, ore, coal, cars, stone and forest products through the locks is on impressive summer parade.

In one short summer season the movement of cargo tonnage through the Soo locks is greater than that of the Suez and Panama canals combined.

It is fitting, therefore, that Michigan join with the people of Sault Ste. Marie in planning the centennial. As a gesture of good will and peace along an international border that has endured for more than 100 years, it might be well to invite Canada to participate in the event.

Await Smelt Runs

HEAVY catches by commercial fishermen in ice fishing operations the past several weeks confirm the belief that there will be millions of smelt again migrating upstream for spawning in April.

Since the smelt disappeared so mysteriously in the winter of 1942-43, most folks are still skeptical that there will be sizable spawning runs next spring. This "wait and see" attitude has caused Escanaba, Menominee and other Lake Michigan communities to refrain from making plans for celebrations like those in the pre-war years.

However, visitors who came from Chicago and other cities in those days came primarily to see the nightly dipping of smelt from the streams. The jamborees and festivals only served as a vehicle to publicize the unique type of fishing. If it turns out that the smelt can be caught by the ton again during the spawning runs next spring, a little newspaper and radio publicity will bring the dipnets out again.

Ounce of Prevention

THE old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," has direct application to the forest fire control program in the Upper Peninsula.

In recognition of this fact, officials of the Michigan Conservation department and the Soo Line railway convened this week, while there was still much snow on the ground, to make plans for the prevention of forest fires next spring, summer and fall.

Each year, a number of forest fires are caused in this country by sparks flying from railroad locomotives. Such fires can be prevented by taking certain precautionary measures in the operation of the engines. Increased patrolling along railroad rights-of-way during periods of high hazard also is helpful in detecting blazes before they get a good start.

The need for adequate forest fire control cannot be emphasized too much. It is the keystone of a successful conservation program.

Self Rule for India

THE setting of a specific date, June, 1948, by Great Britain as a time in which it will withdraw from India and let the 400,000,000 Indians adopt self-rule is a victory for the cause of freedom.

Independence for India will not be easy. Britain has ruled India for nearly 200 years and until very recently the British were not disposed to develop any kind of self-government in India. The problem is further complicated by the natural antagonism between the Moslems and Hindus.

By establishing a definite date in which Britain will withdraw from India, the British government serves notice upon the Indians to settle their internal affairs and to draft a workable constitution for self rule.

Other Editorial Comments

BILL TO SUSTAIN FORESTS (Milwaukee Journal)

The bill to control the cutting of immature forest trees, sponsored by the conservation commission and many interested groups, had a hearing before the senate committee on agriculture and forestry Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 19.

In the absence of nation-wide, federal cutting regulations, Wisconsin had better protect its own young trees. Those trees can, in a few years, produce substantial volumes of pulpwood or timber. They are not ready to do that now. Yet thousands of them are being harvested.

The measure before the legislature—Bill 88-S—is an essentially liberal regulatory proposal. It exempts wood lots; also, cutting for land clearing, building and logging operations. It does not attempt to control the cutting of aspen or "popple."

The bill is designed to preserve—for a number of years—those trees that will add valuable volume if not harvested prematurely.

Most paper mill operators favor the measure. But there will be opposition. It will come from the smaller "contract" operators—men who are engaged by some paper mills to cut and deliver pulpwood.

Their practice is to buy forest tracts and cut them every merchantable "stick" that the mills can use. Since the mills can use small sticks—even though these are not the most profitable to process—the smaller operators may feel, as they have in the past, that their operations would be hampered by any kind of control law. And, of course, a "small" man, in the economic sense, often impresses a legislature when pitted against a "big" man, company or corporation.

Yet the bill has merit, the state's forest resources must be sustained, and every reasonable argument in its behalf ought to be presented.

Burglars in a western town, speeding away with a drug store strong box, were caught by police. Imagine being pinched for safe driving.

A great many of the Christmas ties still look as good as new—never having been worn.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE (Scrapbook Item)

The word puppet is from the French poupee (poo-PAY) which means, "doll; manikin; figurine." The same word which gives us the English word puppet. The original English word for puppet was whelp, from the Anglo-Saxon whelp. But whelp is seldom used today except as a verb, "to bring forth young (dogs, cubs, etc.)."

Apparently the word poupee was brought to England by Norman children after the conquest (1066). They must have loved their little dolls and dolls with equal affection, as children always have; hence, the term poupee was used for both pup and doll. The Anglo-Saxons adopted the word, changing it to puppet, but restricting the meaning to young dogs only.

Q. Why is the beverage punch so called—because the wine or liquor in it gives one a punch or kick?—H. S.

A. No. According to W. W. Skeat, punch was introduced from India, during the 1600's. The original word was the Hindu-

It is an instructive course in the whys and wherefores of democracy at this late stage in America's history.

Opinions on the Senate Labor committee obviously range from A to Izzard. That is to say, from the point of view of those who would chop the unions into little pieces to the point of view of at least one committee member who would probably prefer no legislation at all at this point.

By good fortune, a new member of the senate is also a member of this committee. Sen. Irving M. Ives has spent much of his time as a legislator and educator in New York state studying the problems of organized labor and organized industry. He initiated the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, which is a hopeful portent in a time of clashing emotions.

—WANT LESS REGIMENTATION— That is why Ives' approach in these senate hearings deserves respectful consideration. By his questions he has been trying to find out what area of agreement exists among those who are immediately and vitally interested in this debate. Behind his approach is a recognition of the fact that the public expects some action from congress. That was one thing the voters were voting for last Nov. 5.

Ives wants a minimum of governmental restraint. He knows very well that peace in industry depends, in the last analysis, on good relations between worker and employer, rather than on law. But he knows that a minimum of legislation—such as an amendment of the Wagner Act giving employers certain rights—is essential.

In this is the inherent weakness of the labor leaders as they come before the committee. They cannot agree to a minimum program. And their emotional arguments against "regimentation and governmental interference sound strangely like the arguments that big business has used on occasion in the past.

Hearing these arguments, you realize how very late the hour is for organized labor. The leaders of labor have ignored the storm warnings of recent years.

Philip Murray of the CIO was asked what he thought about jurisdictional strikes and about legislation to prevent them. His answer was that, if the committee would recall William Green of the AFL, then he and Green would sit down together and work out an agreement to ban jurisdictional strikes. That would do it, in Murray's opinion.

Six years ago, three years ago, even two years ago, such a move might have been enough. An agreement between the fiercely competing wings of organized labor might have prevented some of the worst abuses, the nuisances, the injustices and the irritations—although whether it would have prevented the jurisdictional fights between unions within the AFL and unions within the CIO is a question.

Now, in response to an invitation from the AFL, the leaders of the two rival organizations are about to sit down together to try to find common ground. They may succeed. Certainly they have the most urgent reasons for trying.

—MONOPOLY CONTROL—

In a statement which he never had a chance to read before the committee, Murray presented facts and figures on the monopoly concentration of productive health in this country. It was a powerful presentation, showing how more and more wealth has been concentrated in fewer and fewer hands.

What Murray did not talk about, naturally, was the pattern of ever-increasing monopoly control over trade unions. If Big Steel dominates the steel industry, then on the other side of the industrial fence, John L. Lewis certainly dominates the workers in coal and he has shown that, through them, he can exercise a veto over the industry itself.

Murray, if he had had the frankness to talk about monopoly on the union side, might have pointed out that the monopoly of labor followed belatedly the monopolization in the control of industry. While that is true, it does not really matter too much.

We are faced today with a reality. The concentration of control over production has gone a long way. If the CIO and the AFL come together, we shall have one big union. The signposts on that road point to statism. And it is state control that every one professes to want to avoid, including the members of the Senate committee who have taken on this tough assignment.

stani punch (pronounced: punch), meaning "five." The Indian drink was called punch because it consisted of five ingredients—spirit, water, lemon juice, sugar, and spice.

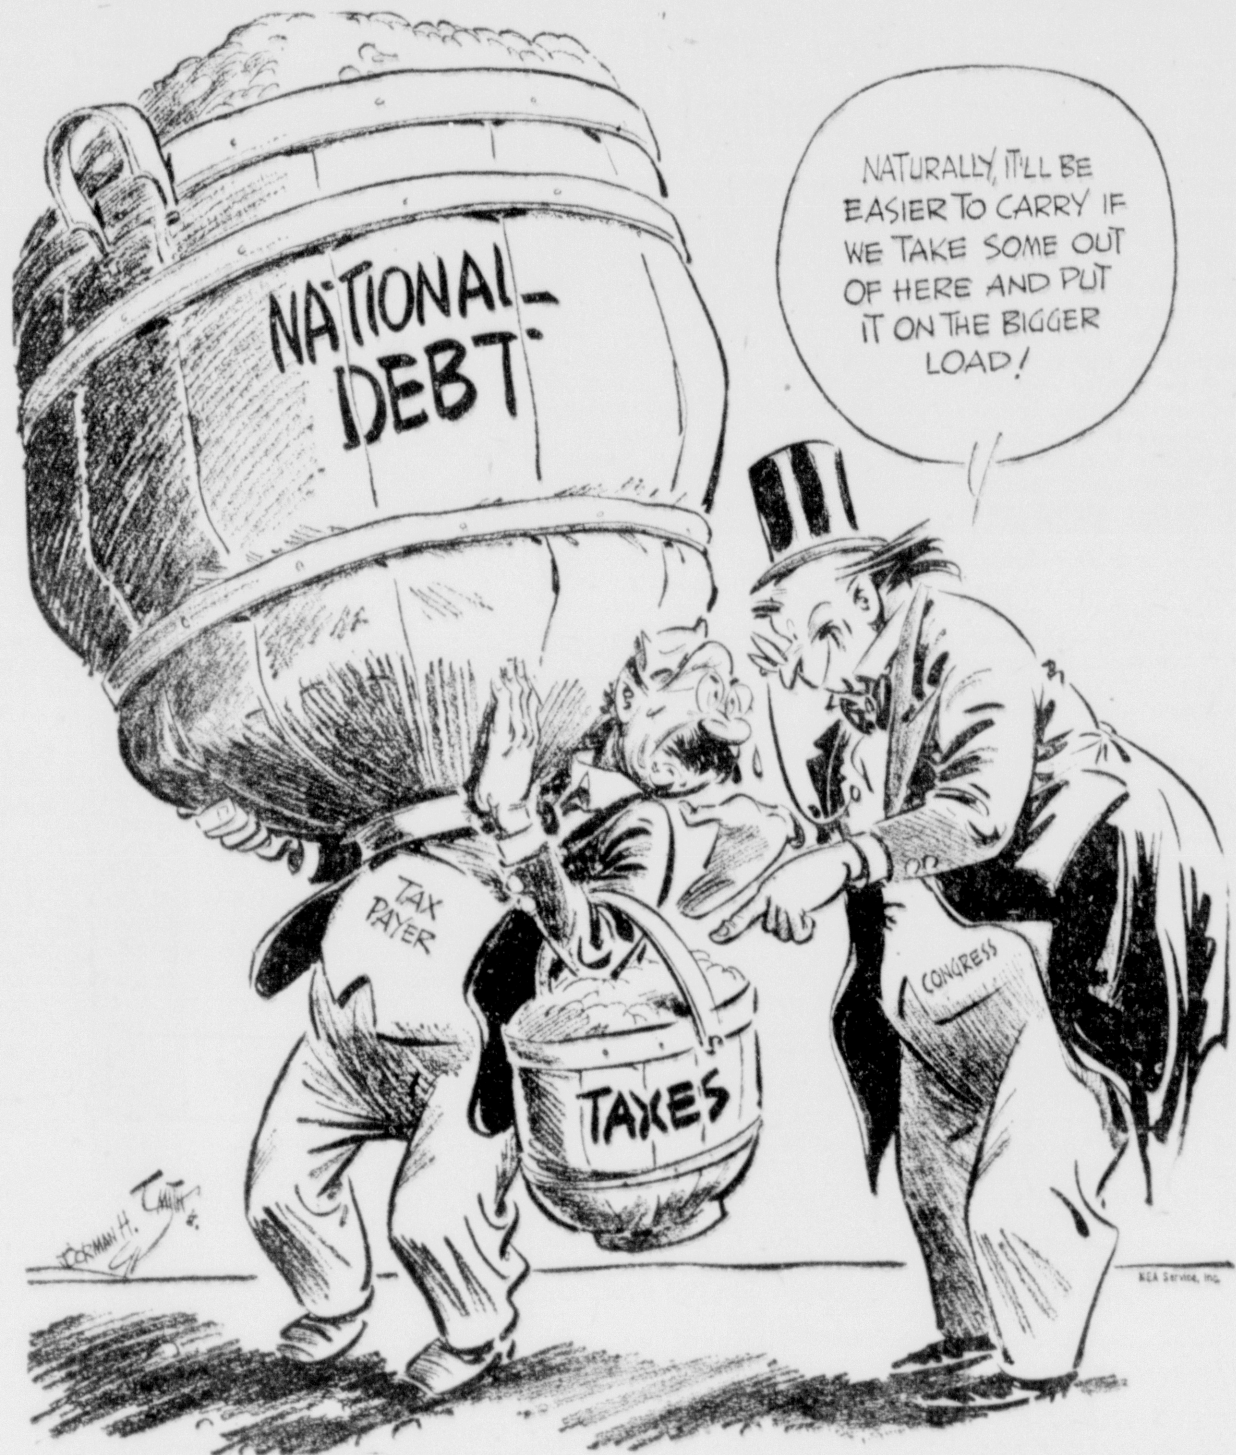

Q. Why is a canopy over the door of a hotel or theater called a marquee?—J. T. A. It came about thus: In French, the wife of a marquis is a marquise, pronounced: mar-KEEZ (the English term is marchioness, pronounced: MA H R R-shun-ess). Centuries ago the French also used the word Marquis for a large tent for a marchioness or any other woman of rank.

In time the French word marquis came to mean "a canopy over the doorway of a public building." Now when the word entered English, it was first spelled "marquees." But, because the final "s" was thought erroneously to make marquee a plural noun, the "s" was dropped, and the canopy became known as a marquee, pronounced: "mah-KEE."

However, to form the plural of Marquee, we restore the "s"—marquees—pronounce it mah-KEES, and thus have the original singular noun as it entered English, in both spelling and pronunciation!

English is like that.

PASS THE TIME—From the middle of the Upper Peninsula westward to the Wisconsin border, our people live in a "twilight zone" so far as time is concerned. There is no such thing as time, but only the time question. And the time question is usually "what time is it?"

In the factory, the office, the railroad and the farm, there is this constant question of time. Most everyone has his own opinion of what time should prevail in his community, and will debate the question vehemently. Eastern Standard Time is official for Michigan, but in the Upper Peninsula this is ignored. The railroads operate on Central Standard, some cities on daylight saving, some on Eastern Standard the year around, others on Central Standard. The closer you get to Wisconsin the more Central Standard Time prevails—and now Wisconsin cities want daylight saving time, which will throw another monkey wrench in the time machine.

THE VIEWPOINTS—It is almost impossible to clarify the time question because of the many viewpoints with which the question is approached.

Every person has his own opinion to begin with, and there is the added complication of his job, and where he lives. Suppose we conduct a panel discussion on the question: "Eastern Standard Time should prevail throughout Michigan."

Composing our panel are a clerk in the five and dime store, a farmer from Bark River, the manager of a shoe store, an engineer on a railroad, and a city housewife.

Let's listen in while they kill time.

THE DISCUSSION—Dime Store Clerk: "All the girls in the store would like to get out an hour earlier in the evening, even though we did have to come to work an hour earlier in the morning. In the spring and fall—and through the summer—we would have an extra hour of daylight to go on a picnic, or go swimming. By the time we get home now on slow time it's pitch dark."

The Farmer: "There's no such thing as an extra hour of daylight. There's just so many hours of daylight and no more. You city people might try getting up earlier in the morning, the way the farmers do. We get our daylight from 4 o'clock in the morning till 9 o'clock at night. All you have to do is get out of bed."

Dime Store Clerk: "Say, who would be in a dime store at 4 a. m.? Not even a farmer."

Shoe Store Manager: "Now, I think we overlook the fact that people who work in stores and offices have a right to enjoy a little sunshine in the evening. By setting the clocks ahead we would be through earlier—according to sun time—and would—"

Railroad Engineer: (Interrupting) "In a railroad town the only reasonable time is railroad time. Everybody knows where they're at then. This tinkering with the clocks is foolish."

Shoe Store Manager: "The people in the stores work every day six days a week. You railroad engineers work a few days and then you're off for a few days, or you make your run at night and have lots of daylight anyway. There's as much sense to keeping a town on railroad time as there is to keep it on bus time, or airplane time, or truck time."

The Farmer: "Speaking of truck time, that's important to the farmer. On fast time the milk trucks make pick-ups an hour earlier. That means we have to have the milking done an hour earlier than usual."

Dime Store Clerk: "You could get up at 3 a. m."

The Farmer: "But the cows are used to getting milked at a regular time."

Shoe Store Manager: "Do people in town have to work according to the time the cows get milked? I like a round of golf in the evening and no cow is going to stop me from playing in the daylight—even if I have to close the store."

City Housewife: "Now we've heard about store time, railroad time, truck time and milking time—but how about school time? Let me tell you that it's hard to get the children off to school in the dark, and then have them to bed in daylight. But it does give all of us a chance to enjoy more daylight—and I'm for that. We have picnics, and take little trips in the evening with the car, and there's more daylight to work in the garden."

Railroad Engineer: "Railroad time is the best time."

The Farmer: "If that's the same as farm time, it's okay. A farmer doesn't like to come to town and find the stores on one time, the railroads on another. Especially the stores. They should be open in the evening when he comes to town."

Dime Store Clerk: "Yeah?" City Housewife: "It seems to me we don't have to worry about sunshine for the farmer. But this young girl should have some time for daylight recreation. There is a difference between working out-

Q. From time to time I notice certain bills being publicized after they are introduced into Congress. Where may a veteran obtain a particular bill which interests him?

A. He should write direct to his Senator or Representative at the Senate or House of Representatives, the Capitol, Washington 25, D. C.

Q. Did the recent Presidential Proclamation of the termination of hostilities on December 31, 1946 establish the deadline for benefits under the G. I. Bill in connection with education, loans, readjustment allowances, etc.?

A. No. Such deadlines will not become effective until the termination of the war either by Presidential Proclamation or by concurrent resolution of the Congress.

Q. Who was the first to cross the Antarctic Circle?

A. Captain Cook on January 17, 1773.

Q. What is the origin of the name of the State of Tennessee?

A. It is Indian for "river with the great bend."

Q. Can you give me several simple, general exercises that can be used to acquire symmetry in all parts of the body?

A. Walking and swimming. Q. In mild weather, in a coal furnace, does leaving ashes under the fuel bed help to maintain a fairly even temperature?

A. Yes. The layer of ashes will increase the resistance of the flow of air through the fuel bed and facilitate the maintenance of the low rate of combustion required during such weather.

Q. I know that World War II leg amputees are eligible to receive a $1600 automobile if they can get a driver's license within their own State, but are such benefits applicable to leg amputees of World War I?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—GOP congressmen are accusing General Marshall—half-jokingly—of being just as good at filibustering as Senator Bilbo. Members of the House Foreign Affairs committee say that in their closed-door session with the new Secretary of State, he kept on talking until just before the bell rang calling Congress into session.

Pearson

By that time there was no chance for them to fire any embarrassing questions. Several Republican congressmen came to the secret committee session primed with questions on Palestine and Russia. However, Marshall, with one eye on the clock, gave a brilliant monologue on foreign affairs for more than an hour. Members listened, eagerly waiting to ask questions, but had time to fire only a few hasty shots before running to answer the roll-call.

Marshall's monologue, however, gave a well-rounded picture of U. S. foreign policy. Here are the high lights:

Russia—The Byrnes policy of being fair but firm with Russia will be continued. Marshall has given this policy careful study and is convinced Byrnes was right.

Austria—Will be the first treaty to be taken up in Moscow, largely because it is "in the nature of a liberated area."

Germany—Within three years the German people should become economically unified and self-sufficient, requiring no more loans or food from the USA.

Palestine—The United States must be more cautious regarding Palestine now that Britain has agreed to lay this problem in the United Nations' lap. Instead of giving advice regarding Palestine, the USA will now have to act.

European Relief—Food continues to be the greatest stabilizing influence in the world, and the United States must continue to feed the world—perhaps for some years to come.

China—"I am somewhat disillusioned about the Chinese situation," Marshall commented. He spent more time on this subject than any other, remarking with a laugh that he felt more at home when talking about China. His off-the-record discussion, however, included little he had not already stated publicly.

—PURGING RED DIPLOMATS—

While the clock ticked and the committee fidgeted, Marshall brought them to attention by suddenly whipping out the draft of his sharp answer to Russia regarding Dean Acheson's statement that Russia was an aggressive nation. The tone of Marshall's blunt reply was unanimously endorsed by the committee.

Finally, as the monologue ended, Michigan's Bartel K. Jonkman (Rep.) had time to criticize the state department's purge of alleged radicals.

"They're supposed to have a security committee down there purging the Communists," Jonkman said. "But from what I hear, the security committee has been fired instead."

"I hadn't heard that," Marshall replied. "I've given Assistant Secretary Peurifoy strict orders to cooperate with you and the committee on security matters. I'm sure he's following through."

Jonkman said he and several other committee members planned a showdown with Peurifoy on the Red issue.

New York's former committee chairman Sol Bloom then shoved several questions at the Secretary of State on Palestine, but Marshall backed away. He said he would stand on what he had already said. Minnesota's Walter Judd, himself an expert on China, then prepared to level a barrage at Marshall on Far Eastern matters, but was frustrated as the bell called congressmen to their noonday session.

During his talk, Marshall remarked that boning up on America's foreign policy was the toughest job he'd had in years. The minute you think you know a situation cold, he explained, something else is added, thereby changing the situation completely. He said he still didn't know all the answers, but would continue studying until he learned them.

As the meeting broke up, Committee Chairman Eaton of New Jersey pointed out that many congressmen still had unanswered questions, and asked the Secretary of State if he would return for a further discussion. Marshall said he would try to make it, but carefully left himself a loophole by pointing out the pressure he's under to prepare for the German treaty negotiations in Moscow.

EDUCATORS IN CONFAB HERE

Schools' Place In Democracy Outlined At Conference

"Education, if it is to succeed in its purpose, must remain close to the people and improvement brought about through research," declared Lee Thurston, deputy superintendent of public instruction, at the citizens' conference on education for community living, held yesterday at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

The aims of the conference were stressed as being the integration of education in a democracy through conferences and the wise use of intelligence, vigor and resources. Mr. Thurston went on to point out that not more than 12 U. S. schools spend over five percent of their funds on educational research. "Educational systems in the United States are rarely more than ten percent efficient in comparison with other government institutions." The people of the United States are on a threshold of new educational systems and this must be acknowledged, "stated the educator.

Speakers for the morning conference session were introduced by Mayor Marvin L. Coon who was in accordance with the ideas expressed by the speakers. The principal address in the forenoon was delivered by Howard Dawson, director of rural education of the National Education association. The predominant points were: the necessity for educators and laymen to decide just what is good education in a democracy, and how to put this concept into practice.

Before the latter can be accomplished, Mr. Dawson declared that the whole school administrative system in local areas must be revamped. He stated that there are 110,000 school districts in the United States of which 1115 had no schools. "Such a practice is a fraudulency and should be remedied for it cheats the child of the advantages of tax money which could be used for his education," explained the rural education director.

Farm people represent 33 1/2 percent of the child population and only nine percent of the national income. Mr. Dawson said that an equalization of school funds was the only solution.

"If more than 10,000 school districts are maintained, there is too much administrative inefficiency and equalization of educational opportunities become impossible." School districts should be abolished and in its stead counties divided into a few school districts and where necessary incorporate two or three counties into one so as to afford the advantages of a larger and more adequate school.

"The frontiers of American education lie with the rural schools. It is regrettable that the best and the worst educational examples are to be found in rural areas," analyzed the educator. "Teaching in the United States has become a procession rather than a profession. Unless some changes are made the whole democratic way of life is doomed. Without proper and adequate education young people will fail and posterity shall pay the price," he declared.

In accordance with the latest sociological and psychological conception of intelligence and its potentialities, Mr. Dawson maintained that with a good functioning system for all people and an integration of interests to meet national needs and foster international understanding, there is no limit to the potentialities of children.

"Reorganization of school administration and equalization of educational opportunities with provisions for transportation is vital if we, as Americans are to avoid a crisis. With the elementary situation bad due to lack of teachers who abandon their work because of low salaries and lack of cooperation, we can not avoid an educational break-down. When these poorly taught youngsters become of age the higher educational brackets we have today will be of no use to them," summarized Director Dawson.

At the noon luncheon Rep. Victor Knox, of Sault Ste. Marie, outlined the state's critical financial condition. He declared that ways and means must be found to obtain the funds needed to maintain vital state services.

In the afternoon, the conference featured group discussion

Cornell Lions Are Organized; Seventh Delta County Club

At a meeting held in the Cornell town hall last night Delta county's seventh Lions club came into being when the Cornell Lions club was launched. Lions Gust Asp, Bruce Brackett and Merrill Larson of the Escanaba club conducted the meeting.

Elected to head the new club were Oral L. Thompson, president; Robert E. Lundgaard, secretary-treasurer, and Harold L. Woodard, tail-twister. The balance of the club's officers will be elected at a meeting to be held at the town hall on next Tuesday evening.

The new Lions club, which is sponsored by the Escanaba club, now boasts 25 paid-up members in making plans for its charter night ceremonies and party. The Cornell club will be host to the Lions clubs of the peninsula on the occasion of receiving its charter. Details of the event will be announced as soon as completed.

FUNDS AT HAND FOR NEW FERRY

State Highway Planning Money Is Available, Says Rep. Jensen

The state highway department has a $5,000,000 postwar planning fund which would become available for construction of a new ice-breaking auto ferry for service at the Straits of Mackinac if the act providing for creation of the fund is amended, Rep. Roy Jensen of Escanaba said here yesterday.

Rep. Jensen has introduced a bill proposing such an amendment, and providing for expenditure of the highway planning fund to build a new ferryboat of the icebreaker type and for reconstruction and improvement of the necessary landing docks at St. Ignace and Mackinaw City. Unless the planning fund is expended by Jan. 1, 1950, it will revert to the state general fund.

In Escanaba yesterday Rep. Jensen said that he expects to confer with State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler in connection with the bill he has introduced, and at that time would inquire concerning possible utilization of the causeway which the highway department completed on the north side of the Straits prior to the war. The causeway needs dock facilities before it could be used for ferry landings.

The state highway department this month reported from Lansing that it is remodeling one of its two larger ferries, the "City of Petoskey", to permit unloading and loading at both ends of the ship, thus reducing the time required for a round trip across the Straits. The department anticipates ferry business will increase even above last year's record traffic.

Other ferries, the "City of Munising", the same size as the Petoskey, and the "City of Cheboygan", next largest state ferry, are also to be remodeled for end loading.

Quicfrez REDUCES PRICES $50.00!

ALTHOUGH production costs are still high and many of our dealers are still waiting for deliveries, the Sanitary Refrigerator Co. is glad to give this liberal price reduction through their dealers at our mutual contribution towards bringing business back to a normal and stable flow of merchandise at attractive price levels.

WE BELIEVE the pent-up desire for Sanitary Quicfrez represents a steady and long term market, which should be served at a sensible price.

IT IS HOPED that current shortages which now hold back production of Sanitary Quicfrez will soon be a thing of the past so that the increasing production volume during the following months will compensate for this price reduction.

LOWLY ASPEN IS VALUABLE

No Reason To Shed Any Tears Over Pine, Says Forester

Blaney Park, Mich.—Shed no tears over Michigan's vanished forests of virgin pine.

The 25 billion board feet of timber now growing on the state's forested acres had greater dollar value than the trees that were cut in the heyday of the lumber industry. And Michigan is cashing in on only about one-third of its potential timber production.

While old-time lumbermen would have scorned today's second-growth trees, they represent one of the state's most valuable resources. E. L. Demmon, director of the Lake States Forest Experiment station, St. Paul, Minn., told the Michigan Outdoor Writers' association at its recent midwinter meeting here.

Lowly Aspen Paves Way

Aspen is lifting the state into a leading position among pulpwood producers and is growing faster, on a cubic foot basis, than it is being cut, Demmon said. He declared research will match trees with soils, develop less wasteful methods of processing lumber, new uses greatly increase the state's income and furnish employment for additional thousands.

The lumber industry in Michigan is big business and as such should have the benefit of close-at-hand research, said Demmon, representing the United States forest service. The state has 1,600 primary and secondary wood-using plants, employing about 60,000 workers with pay rolls of over $80,000,000 annually. Wood products harvested each year are worth approximately $10,000,000 on the stump and the annual value of products processed from wood is about $410,000,000.

Writers To Support It

The outdoor writers' group voted to support a movement to obtain a $50,000 annual appropriation to finance activity of a Federal forest research center in the Lower Peninsula and to seek its inclusion in the department of agriculture appropriation bill for 1947-48. Numerous other state groups also are backing the request for research funds.

Expressing hope that Michigan will be the first state to set up an all-embracing water authority empowered to conserve water resources and attack the problem of pollution, P. J. Hoffmaster, conservation department director, told the writers that they are the ones who can best "sell a conservation program to the people of the state."

Engineer Regains Voice Lost In 1911

Bridgeport, O.—(P)—Al Burk, 82, broke a 35-year silence today with a thankful utterance to God "for letting me speak again."

Burk's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ada Burk, said she was amazed upon returning home to hear the elderly man say: "I have a surprise for you."

Mrs. Burk and her husband, Ellwood Burk, said the man lost his voice in 1911 after a train accident in which he was the locomotive engineer.

JEAN DICKENSON ENTERTAINS PINECREST PATIENTS—For over an hour and a half Thursday afternoon patients of Pinecrest sanatorium listened appreciatively and with great enthusiasm to Jean Dickenson, coloratura soprano and star of the "American Album of Familiar Music." The Powers appearance of the radio star, who was sponsored by Town Hall, was a gratis performance. Accompanying the soprano at the piano is Robert McDonald. For her offering Miss Dickenson sang "LaDanza" by Rossini, "My Johann" by Greig and many others including the popular "Clavelitos." As an encore she sang Schubert's "Ave Maria."

In Hollywood

BY GENE HANDSAKER
Hollywood—Twenty miles north of Hollywood, in the sunswet San Fernando Valley, 60 retired movie folk live amid the beauty and comfort many of them knew before their fortunes vanished.

The Motion Picture Country House—perhaps the most luxurious old people's home anywhere—shelters a few who were the Van Johnsons and Lana Turners of their day on the silent screen. One actor earned $1,500,000 a year and spent it on yachts, racehorses, and bad investments.

One actress had a theater named for her; she's gray and frail now, but her eyes are bright and there's the proud air of a trouper about her. Another ex-star proudly showed me the big, bright hat someone had given her, and she remarked that once she paid as much as $450 for a headpiece. Aging checks are rouged and hair is bleached here in a gay and determined effort to retain yesterday's glamour.

Jean Hersholt, regarded as affectionately by the residents as by the fictional characters whose problems he solves as radio's "Dr. Christian," showed me the establishment. President of the Motion Picture Relief Fund, Inc., which built and maintains the home, he, with his wife, picked out its 60-acre site.

Neat, tan-colored brick bungalows with white gravel roofs are linked by meandering asphalt walks. Marigolds, roses, pansies, and lawn provide a bright setting. Bordering acres of walnuts and grapefruit afforded $8,000 income last year.

Each bungalow has bleached, modernistic furniture, a radio, and broad windows with Venetian blinds. An immense lounge and a library in the administration building have sloping beam ceilings, huge fireplaces, soft carpets, handsome furnishings. In the dining room, set with tables for four, there are movies twice a week and a stage whereon the retired trouper can act in occasional plays.

Returns from the Screen Guild Players radio program, to which actors, writers and directors donate their talents, finance the Country House.

A hospital section, now being enlarged has 20 modern rooms with outside walls of glass that open onto sunny patios. In one room a screen veteran was busy with carving tools and electric drills, making toy furniture for his friends' children.

Visiting newsmen are asked not to identify the residents of the Country House, to spare the once-famous possible embarrassment. But from the smiles and general good spirits evident on every hand it's doubtful that there are happier folk anywhere.

The secret of making colorless, or "flint," glass was discovered in England. But Venetians found the formula for absolutely colorless and transparent glass in the 16th century and were able to blow it to extreme thinness.

Kindly Police Help Youngster Get To School

A recent issue of the Kansas City Star has a picture of Brenda Kay Johnson, eight years old, whose father, Clarence Johnson, is a former resident of Ford River, and whose grandmother, Mrs. Charles N. Johnson, still lives there.

In the picture with Brenda Kay is a kind looking policeman, and the way it all happened is this: Brenda started to school this particular cold morning and before she reached the car stop, she discovered she had lost the dime her mother had given her for fare. Being an independent little lady, as well as a resourceful one, Brenda started to walk. She hadn't gone too far, however, before she realized that in the bitter winter wind, she was becoming very cold, and for another thing, she began thinking about being tardy and spoiling her excellent school record.

So the youngster did a very sensible thing. She stopped into the nearby police headquarters. But let the Kansas City Star tell you the rest of the story:

"Darrell Capshaw, patrolman on duty, was taken by surprise at the sight of shivering Brenda.

"I think I'm freezing," she said, her black eyes watering and

Dies At 77; Rites
Monday

Mrs. Nathalie Hillewaert, 77, died Thursday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Gust Lierman, 619 Dakota avenue, with whom she made her home. Mrs. Hillewaert was born in Belgium March 6, 1869 and came to the United States and Gladstone 54 years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lierman and Mrs. Joe Hillewaert; four sons, Charles DeGroate, Leo, Louis and Joseph Hillewaert, all of Gladstone, and four sisters, Mrs. Leo Van Damme, and Mrs. Paul DeMenter, city, Mrs. Louis DeVos, Seattle, Wash., and Emma DeWent in Belgium and one brother, Peter Waeghe, city.

The body was removed to the Kelley Funeral Home where it will rest in state beginning at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services will be conducted at All Saints' Catholic church at 9 o'clock Monday morning with the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette officiating the requiem. Burial will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Evening Guild Will Sponsor Easter Tea

March 20 was set as the date on which the Evening Service Guild of Memorial Methodist church is to sponsor their annual Easter Day and basket sale.

This was decided at a regular meeting of the Guild at the home of Mrs. George Kelly on Wisconsin avenue Thursday night.

The party is to be held in the church parlors at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day. There will be a musical program. The general public is invited.

The time at the regular meeting Thursday was passed in making baskets for the sale. Lunch was served by Mrs. Kelly assisted by Mrs. A. W. Rohde.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Valentine, 1021 Superior avenue, on Thursday, March 13.

SCOUT WORK IS
CLUB PROJECTWelfare Club Sponsors
Demonstration On March 10

Promotion of Boy and Girl Scout work is the object of a meeting being sponsored by the Child's Welfare club on Monday, March 10, in the high school auditorium.

Demonstrations of work done by the Scouts will be given.

The Girl Scout group will present a skit entitled "A Day at Day Camp," depicting the activities and doings of these youngsters, while the Boy Scouts will give illustrations of first aid under Scout Executive S. N. Bradford.

The Girl Scout skit is original, having been written by four senior Girl Scouts: namely, Carol Cowen, Alice Dunsmore, Gerrie Girard and Carol Hendrickson. Directing is Mrs. Grier Ivory with Mrs. Seymour Lewis as assistant director.

The cast: Mr. Peters, Joyce Lied. Mrs. Peters, Joan Outhoudt. G. S. Leader, Sue D'Amour. Co-Leader, Gretchen Hult. Program Aid, Maxine Bedard. Director of Unit, Betty Ohman. Brownie Scouts—Janie, Mary Jo Bolger. Helen, Mary Alice Cameron. Jean, Patsy Morgan. Sally, Jill Wixom. Barbara, Helen Outhoudt.

The mass of the Blessed Sacrament was sung by the members of All Saints choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. A. LaFave, organist. At the offertory, Miss Pat Bolger sang Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The bride was escorted up the white carpeted aisle on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of heavy white brocade satin, fashioned with leg o' mutton sleeves which extended to points at the wrist, and a sweetheart neckline. The bodice was tight fitting and the full skirt fell into a graceful train. Her fingertip veil of net was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. White calla lilies formed her bridal bouquet.

Miss Madelyn Archambeau, aunt of the bride, was maid of honor, and was attired in an ice blue tulle gown with a net skirt of pale blue. She wore a blue net head-dress fastened with a tiny spray of flowers and carried a colonial bouquet.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Mary Lou Thivierge, close friend of the bride, and Miss Faye Van Damme, sister of the bride. Miss Thivierge was dressed in pale yellow and Miss Van Damme in pale blue gowns. They were matching head-dresses and carried colonial bouquets.

The groom was attended by his brother, William Zahn, Milwaukee, as best man and the ushers were Joe Grudinski, Milwaukee, and Henry Lindberg, Rapid River. A dinner and reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in the afternoon with over fifty guests attending.

For her going away costume, the bride wore a suit of black gabardine with matching accessories. For their wedding trip they are motoring through various parts of Wisconsin. Upon their return they will make their home in Milwaukee, where the groom is employed by the Western Electric company.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Anna Zahn, Mr. and Mrs. William Zahn, Mrs. John Borja, Daniel Sachnik and Joe Grudinski of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olmstead, Nahma; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sheedio, Mrs. Joie Manning and daughter, Gladys, Escanaba.

The letter in the main follows:

Dear John:

Hello Outside World, this is Le-Roux writing to you from the bottom-side of the Universe * * *

The water is 36 degrees cold and yesterday we had 3 guys floating around in it for about 20 minutes. Yep! and we lost our nice new helicopter. They were to take off and scout for icebergs and the USS Caccapon (an oiler), which we were to meet. It got off the flight deck and started off the port side—the pilot lost control and it went down to about eight feet above the water and couldn't get any altitude, water hit it and down she went. The three occupants were saved by No. 1 lifeboat.

It took about 20 minutes for it to sink.

Say, John, you should spend a little time in Panama City. What a place * * *. All the night clubs are named after things in the States like Club New York, Club California, Miami Club, Kelley's, Seolay Square, Boston and a snag of others, * * *.

Crossing the equator wasn't too bad * * *. We crossed on 11 January. I just wonder if a couple little certificates are worth it. They gave us another certificate today—it's for the Antarctic Circle and the Expedition—Admiral Byrd and the captain signed them. Day after tomorrow we cross the international date line.

Tonight at midnight we set the clocks back another hour when we go into zone plus 12 time, this will make a total of 6 hours we have set them back. What a day that makes—it's light as day till after 11 o'clock at night.

The albatrosses left our wake two days ago because we're in the ice pack zone—haven't seen any of them as yet.

We're rendezvous at 67 degrees south latitude and 175 degrees east longitude early in the morning with the Caccapon (an oiler). Then we go down and unload all the supplies we have. The trip so far has been quite nice.

Social

Birthday Party

Judy Prass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Prass, entertained seven of her little friends on Thursday afternoon at her home, in honor of her seventh birthday anniversary. The party was from 3:30 to 5:30. Games were played and dinner was served. Judy received many nice gifts from her little guests who were Anita Rivers, David Bray, Mary Sue Sabourin, Karen Hult, Patty Farrell and Denny Coulter.

Van Damme-Zahn

Cut flowers banked the altars of All Saints Catholic church on Tuesday morning when Miss Joan Van Damme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Damme, 305 Minnesota avenue, city, and George Zahn, son of Mrs. Anna Zahn, Milwaukee, Wis., spoke their nuptial vows before the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette at an 8 o'clock ceremony.

HINKLE TALK
THRILLS MANYEx-Packer Star Speaks
At Lions Dinner
For Braves

Genial Clark Hinkle, who made football history at Bucknell College and later with the Green Bay Packers pro eleven, thrilled more than one hundred persons gathered at a banquet honoring the 1946 Gladstone high school football team, Upper Peninsula champions, sponsored by the Lions club.

In easy, informal manner Hinkle recounted briefly his college days when with the assistance of an obliging coach and cooperative teammates he led the nation's scorers and how another time his team defeated a highly favored but over-confident Fordham eleven and robbed them of what appeared to be a sure bid to the Rose Bowl.

When he started with the Packers he was offered $125 per game by Curly Lambeau "provided the Packers could use him" and that meant playing 60 minutes every game. He contrasted the old days when the players had to be "iron men" with the present when they substituted so freely that many are only in for a few plays at a time and also contrasted the old salaries with those of today when players get as high as $600 per week for warming the bench.

Hinkle told the boys that the will to win was paramount in a good team and that good football could not be played when the players were relaxed. He cited instances of underdog victories by keyed up teams and of upset defeats of favored teams because they had let down after winning some crucial game.

Touching on systems, Hinkle said there are a number of good systems, but in many instances the coach must choose the system according to the material on hand. He said that any system could have been used with the Bear eleven of 1940 through 1943.

He expressed the belief that one of the troubles with the Packers of last fall was that Lambeau had adopted a single wingback system, dropping the old Notre Dame shift with modified T which he had used with such great success in former years. He also said there was some dissension of the team, stemming from the belief from the fact that the players were lodged at Rockwood Lodge, about 17 miles distant from Green Bay and they seldom saw others except on weekends and probably got on each other's nerves. Lack of a passer like Herber or Isbell and a Don Hutson was the main trouble, however, he declared.

He said he believed the Packers should do more missionary work, visiting the various cities and towns of northern Michigan and Wisconsin which so loyally supported them in years gone by and at the present. He pointed to a handicap of the Bays in that they cannot draw the crowds in Green Bay and Milwaukee that attend games in Chicago and New York.

The Packers have already suffered a setback for Case, Baldwin and Agase, three of the draft choices of Lambeau do not care to get up where the cold winds blow.

preferring to remain in sunny California.

He praised the ability of Luckman of the Bears as a leader and also that of Bob Waterfield who led the Los Angeles Rams to a championship. Speaking of Waterfield, he said, "he must have something for he's got Jane Russell."

Coach Eldon Keil spoke briefly tendering his thanks to the club for the dinner and the opportunity to hear Hinkle.

Hinkle's appearance here was arranged by Walter VanDeWeghe. The speaker was introduced by Dr. B. H. Skellenger, president of the club.

SCOUTS TO SKI
AT PARK TODAY2nd Annual Frolic Being Held At Gladstone
Sport Park

The second annual Boy Scout Ski Frolic is to be held today at the Gladstone Sports Park.

Scouts from all of the troops in the city as well as from all surrounding cities and villages will be in attendance.

Out-of-town Scouts were sent invitations to the frolic by the District Commissioner of Scouting, Wallace Cameron. Invitations were extended to units at Rock, Perkins, Nahma, Rapid River, Hermansville and Escanaba. Heavy attendance is indicated.

With snow in ideal condition a day of fun is expected. Both boys and girls will be operated for the pleasure of the boys and a novel ski contest will highlight the afternoon. All Scouts may enter. Prizes will be awarded the winners.

Climax of the day's fun will be lunch and refreshments in the clubhouse served by a committee headed by Oscar Ohman. There will be a nominal charge for the lunch.

During the lunch period there will be a brief program of entertainment.

Adults in charge during the day will include Scoutmasters Jim Stokes, LeRoy Hamilton, Harold Mackie and Marvin Duchery as well as committeemen from several troops including Ralph Marquette, Irving Johnson, Oscar Ohman, George Strong and Bob Hupy and Scout Executive S. N. Bradford.

Local Scouts will assemble this morning between 9:30 and 10 o'clock at the city hall. Transportation to the park will be furnished. Each will bring noon-day lunch, skis and other articles. Return transportation will also be furnished local Scouts at 5 o'clock. At that time parents and committeemen are requested by the outgoing sponsors to meet at the park to assist in transporting the boys home.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Paul Brockaert, who passed away 8 years ago today, Feb. 22, 1939.

Eight years of silent sorrow. Eight years of grief and pain. We miss you when the morning dawns.

We miss you when the night returns. We miss you here, we miss you there. Dear Mother, we miss you everywhere.

Your loving smile, your loving face, No one can fill your vacant place. And when we sit and think of you, Our hearts are filled with pain. Our home would be like Heaven. Could we hear your voice again.

Sadly missed by her husband

Bids On Work To Be Accepted Until March 18

Munising — Postmaster Edward Genry, announced yesterday that bids will be accepted until 2.00 p. m. March 18, 1947 for proposed painting and repair of the interior and exterior of the Munising Post Office.

Bids should cover the furnishing of materials as well as the performance of the work, the postmaster said. They will be open publicly at the postoffice.

The building was last painted five years ago, he stated and added that present repairs will be done chiefly to the roof.

Mr. Genry stated that bids for the same work were let last fall but were rejected due to the hold up of public appropriations for building and improvements put into effect then.

Specifications and drawings relative to the present work may be secured at the post office, he said.

ICE RACES TO BE HELD TODAY

Events To Be Held At Stadium Rink At 2:30 O'clock

Hopeful for skies that are fair and yet almost proverbial that there will be frost enough to permit quality skating, members of the Manistique Recreation committee are presenting their second annual speed skating event this afternoon at the Stadium Rink.

A program of many different classes of races has been arranged for the afternoon, with races listed for boys and for girls of each age group.

A public address system has been set up at the field and arrangements have been made that will permit the parking of cars on the track so that those who come can witness the events in greater comfort than was possible in the past.

Winners of the events will be awarded prizes donated by local merchants.

Judges are Russell Watson, James Dickson and Ted Carambus. The events begin at 2:30 o'clock sharp. There will be no admission charge.

Following contests are to be staged:

Open Class — For men only, 18 years and up, 880 yards.

One race exclusively for boys and another for girls in the following groups:

Senior Class — 18 years and up. Events in 220, 440 and 880 yards.

Junior Class — 16 to 18 years; same distances.

Juvenile Class — 14 to 16 years; same distances.

Midgets — 12 to 14 years; 220 and 440 yards.

Cradle Class — under 12; 220 yards only.

The figure skating program, to be presented by the Escanaba Figure Skating club, will be held on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock instead of in the evening as previously announced, according to announcement by Thor Reque. A large group of these widely acclaimed figure skaters will participate in the entertainment. There will be no charge for this event.

Social

Auxiliary Meeting

The Manistique American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 83, met Thursday evening in the Legion hall.

During the meeting a Washington Day program was given. Several duets were rendered by Mrs. Frank Pavlot and Mrs. Nellie Ott. Appropriate readings were given by several members of the unit.

Five hundred was played following the program with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Lilla Martin, high, and Mrs. Agnes Kristofferson, second. In other games Mrs. Ellen Kimmell received high and Mrs. William Mellon, low.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Bridge Club

Mrs. Ray Billings entertained members of her bridge club on Thursday evening at her home on Cedar street.

High score was won by Mrs. James Dupont, and second by Mrs. Don Hoholik. Mrs. Anthony Nastoff was a guest.

A tasty lunch was served later.

Shower Party

Mrs. A. W. Heitman and Mrs. William Corson entertained Tuesday evening at the Heitman home on Range street at a shower party for Miss Katherine Hughes, whose marriage to Melbourne Williams is taking place next Wednesday.

The affair was a dessert bridge. An effective arrangement of white tapers, a miniature bridal party and wedding bells, featured table decorations. Five tables of bridge were in progress later, honors going to Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, Mrs. H. K. Peterson, Mrs. G. A. Shaw and Mrs. Gordon Hughes.

City Briefs

Mrs. Axel Seistr returned to Manistique yesterday after spending the winter in Detroit as the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johns.

ALVIN WELCH IS STRICKEN

Dies Friday Morning At Home Here From Heart Ailment

Alvin Welch, 54, resident of this city for the past 18 years, died early Friday morning at his home at 537 Manistique avenue. Death was due to a heart ailment with which he had been afflicted for several months.

Mr. Welch was born in Traverse City on March 13, 1892, and grew to manhood in that vicinity, coming here in 1929, where most of the time he was engaged in trucking.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. George Schneider, Mrs. Harry Pizala and Albert Welch, of Manistique, and Mrs. Lester Russell, of Germfask; three brothers, Floyd and Melvin of Alaska, and Lionel, of Dowagiac; and two sisters, Mrs. William Moe, of Gould City and Mrs. Nels Minor, of Dufferin. Also surviving are fifteen grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed. The body is at the Kefauver and Jackson Funeral Home.

Seniors Choose Committees For Spring Doings

The senior class of Manistique high school, in anticipation of its rush of activities as commencement approaches, assigned committees at a recent meeting to supervise the many events the class is sponsoring.

Following are the committees:

ASKS SUPPORT FOR SCOUTING

Scout Executive Says Lack Of Interest Harms Cause

Interest in Boy Scouting seems to be at low ebb in Manistique at present.

At least such is the opinion expressed this week by S. N. Bradford, district Scout executive, while making one of his routine visits here.

He has requested the Press to ask pointedly: "What is the matter?"

Up to about a year ago Manistique had three troops which by way of achievement, advancement and group appearance were the par of the very best in the Red Buck district.

The people of Manistique were proud of their Boy Scouts and encouraged them in their work. They took pride in the fact that among the troops were boys who had advanced to Eagle Scouts, boys who were at the service of every worthy community enterprise.

Manistique Beats Eskymos, 34-22; Braves Lose At Marquette

DROUGHT ENDS FOR EMERALDS

Escanaba Reserves Also Beaten In Prelim, 33-32

Playing at their peak pace of the season, Manistique's high school basketball team defeated the Escanaba quintet at Manistique last night by a score of 34-22. It was the first time in ten years Manistique was able to do the job.

Manistique's Daugherty was cracking last night, sinking 7 field goals and 4 gift throws for the high point score of 18 points. For the first two quarters, they played even ball, but in the third quarter, the Escanaba team began slipping its clutch. For a time in the fourth period, it looked as though the Eskymos, led by Hirm and Lough, might stage a comeback, but three buckets by Manistique, one behind the other, stopped the rally.

The Manistique Reserves defeated the Escanaba reserves 33-32.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

A total of 78 high school basketball teams of the Upper Peninsula will compete in state sponsored district tournaments next month, competing in four classes. The largest entry list is 21 in Class E, followed by 20 in Class D, 19 in Class B and 18 in Class C. Bessemer will have the largest district tournament in the peninsula, 14 teams in three classes, but Rapid River, entertaining only two classes, D and E, will have 13 entries. Marquette and Lake Linden each will have 10 teams in two classes.

The assignment of schools to various tournament centers reveals some interesting revisions from previous years. The Class C district in the western end of the peninsula for years was strictly a Crystal Falls show, only St. Ambrose of Ironwood being paired against Crystal Falls. This year the Class C tournament in the western section will be the largest Class C tournament in the peninsula. Six schools will compete in that tournament, including the Copper Country Class C teams.

There will be virtually no change in the assignments for the Class B, C, D and E tournaments of the so-called Escanaba district. In Class B at Manistique there will be the same five teams that have comprised this district for years—Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Menominee and Manistique. No change either in Class C at Norway—St. Joseph of Escanaba, Gladstone, Stephenson and Norway. Rapid River will conduct the D and E tournaments for this district, with Feich, Harris, Powers, Rapid River, Harris and Vulcan in Class D. The Class E bracket includes Cooks, Daggett, Garden, Hermansville, Nahma, Perkins and Trenary.

Despite its large entry list and the small community as host, Rapid River has paid off 100 per cent of allowed expenses to competing teams on various occasions in past years. There is a truly remarkable record. They may not accomplish that this year because of increased allowances to the teams. Even with capacity crowds, it may not be possible to pay off 100 per cent of expenses to competing schools at Rapid River this year, but the state athletic association will pay the difference if any, using profits from other tournament centers for that purpose.

Graveraets Build Lead Early; Rally Comes Too Late

Marquette, Feb. 21.—The Graveraets basketball team defeated the Gladstone Braves, 46 to 40, here tonight, leading all of the way except the first minute or two of play.

The Marquette team built a 10 point lead in the first half and held that advantage most of the game. The Braves staged a rally in the last minutes of play but it was not enough to overtake the Graveraets.

Christensen led the scoring for Marquette, dumping eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points. Gillis scored 13 for Gladstone.

Rapid River Taken By Eben Team, 38-31

The Eben high school basketball team took the Rapid River last night at a first period lead.

Eben had control of the ball almost completely during the first quarter. But the second quarter was a different story, for in this period it looked as though Rapid River might make it a ball game. The fast water boys didn't have quite what it takes, however. Eben came back strong in the second half.

Nykanen of Eben was the big gun of the evening with 18 points chalked up to his person credit.

The Rapid River Reserves defeated the Eben Reserves 54-34 in the preliminary.

Mustangs Missing Basketball Suit

The Munising Mustangs are frantically searching for one of their basketball uniforms that was lost Tuesday night when the Mustangs were returning to Munising after defeating St. Joseph, 43-42 at Escanaba.

The uniform apparently was lost near Trenary on highway US-41. It is virtually impossible to secure another uniform of like design now and the Mustangs would like to recover it.

Anyone who finds the uniform is asked to get in touch with Bob Villeneuve, of Munising high school.

National Ski Tourney Opens At Ishpeming

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 21 (P)—Snow sifting down on this iron ore mining community today added to the severe challenge of gaunt Suicide Hill where some 40 of the world's best ski jumpers will try for the national championship Sunday.

Prospects of rising temperatures may give more speed on the run as the riders zoom down 279 feet from the top of the height-ened scaffold to the rebuilt take-off before gliding out into space at 65 miles an hour.

Although Suicide Hill was remodeled in an attempt to make possible a 300 foot leap which would be the longest in America, none of the riders believe it can be attained. Concensus is 270 feet or even less will be the longest leap of the meet. This would break the hill record of 250 feet held by Ishpeming's own Wilbert Rasmussen, but would fall far short of the American record of 289 set by the late Torger Torkle at Iron Mountain, Mich., five years ago.

245 Feet Best Jump

Best distances in practices were 245 feet by Ralph Bietila of Ishpeming's famed skiing family, and 240 by two members of the Norwegian team, Ragnar Baklid and 32-year old Arholdt Kongsgaard, who has regained his competitive edge after spending two years in a Nazi concentration camp near Berlin during the war.

Gustav Raam, who arrived in the states several months ago from Norway to study business administration in New York, fell on the steep landing yesterday and sprained his ankle. It is doubtful if he will compete.

Among outstanding American entrants are Merrill Barber of Brattleboro, Vt., who beat out the Norwegians recently in winning the Brattleboro jumping meet; Gordon Wren of Winter Park, Colo.; Walter and Ralph Bietila of Ishpeming. Missing are Art Devlin of Lake Placid, N. Y., one of the country's top ranking riders, and Barney McLean of Steamboat Springs, Colo. Both recently suffered injuries in other tournaments.

The 17-year-old hill record holder, Rasmussen, heads the list of riders in the Class C competition tomorrow which will be run off with the senior division. Class B and the Class A championships are Sunday.

Total entry list is 123, with 40 of them bracketed in Class A.

Evans said only that Newhouse "had accepted the club's terms" but although no salary figure was mentioned it was considered certain that Newhouse, a 25-game winner for three straight years, was given a substantial salary increase over his 1946 paycheck of an estimated $45,000.

Although Newhouse is the last of the American League's "big three" attractions to sign his 1947 contract—nearly a month after Bob Feller agreed to a Cleveland contract that may bring him as much as $60,000 and two weeks after Boston's Ted Williams signed for a reported $75,000—Hal still came to terms earlier than he did in 1946.

In 1946 the Tigers had conducted one workout before Newhouse and George M. Trautman, then Detroit's general manager, reached an agreement on salary.

At Lakeland, Newhouse said that he expected no recurrence of trouble from bone chips in his elbow that almost put him on the bench last season.

"A couple of weeks ago I had a wisdom tooth removed. Doctors say that should relieve a shoulder soreness that's been bothering me some," Hal said.

Newhouse, 37th of 44 Tigers on the training camp roster to sign his contract, was the American League's earned run leader with a mark of 1.94 last year when he won 26 games and lost nine, recording 275 strikeouts.

In 1945 he won 25 games and in 1944 knocked down 29 victories, losing nine each season, and winning the league's "most valuable" award both years.

Chicago, Feb. 21 (P)—The largest crowd of the basketball season, probably in excess of 21,000, will watch the veteran Whiz Kids from the University of Illinois battle Northwestern in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. Kansas, lacking size but boasting plenty of speed, will furnish the opposition for DePaul in the second half of the double header.

WHIZ KIDS GET 21,000 CROWD

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Chicago, Feb. 21 (P)—The largest crowd of the basketball season, probably in excess of 21,000, will watch the veteran Whiz Kids from the University of Illinois battle Northwestern in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. Kansas, lacking size but boasting plenty of speed, will furnish the opposition for DePaul in the second half of the double header.

Illinois' veterans—Andy Phillip, Jack Smiley, Gene Vance, and Kenneth Menke—played on Illinois' Western Conference championship teams of 1942 and '43. Now, after a three-year wartime service, they are in second place in the conference race in hot pursuit of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin and Illinois each have three remaining games to play, with Illinois trailing by two games in the lost column. So, if Illinois defeats Northwestern, the Badgers can be at least assured of a tie for the conference championship by conquering Ohio State at Madison tomorrow night.

The Badgers, in top shape for their final game at home, will be shooting for the ninth victory in "Big Nine" starts. They will rely upon the same starting lineup that has kept them at the top of the race since the opening game of the season. Thirteen thousand will see the game.

Indiana engages Iowa City tomorrow night in the Hoosiers' ninth game of the campaign, while Michigan, which dropped out of the conference race by losing its last three games, meets Minnesota at Ann Arbor. A first division berth is at stake in this game since Michigan is in fourth place and Minnesota is tied with Purdue in fifth.

The all-time basketball record attendance for the stadium of 22,822 probably will be endangered tomorrow with the Illinois-Northwestern, Kansas-DePaul double header since all the reserved seats have been sold for three months, leaving only general admissions and standing room. Illinois won the conference title in the stadium four years ago by defeating Northwestern, 86 to 44, which established a "Big Nine" scoring record. A crowd of 19,848 saw that contest.

DePaul has had its greatest success on the stadium floor this season, upsetting Kentucky two weeks ago. De Paul's attack will center around Eddie Mikan, who has scored 326 points this year. Mikan is a brother of the famed George, formerly of De Paul, now playing professionally with the American Gears.

South Dakota Puts 10-Day Limit On Hunting Licenses

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 21 (P)—The South Dakota house of representatives today enacted bill limiting the validity of non-resident small game hunting licenses to ten days from the date of issuance.

The vote was 51 to 5. The bill now goes to Gov. Mickelson, who recommended it in his inaugural address.

The measure also repeals a special one dollar hunting license for non-resident servicemen.

SOX ROMP

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 21 (P)—Manager Teddy Lyons had 10 pitchers tossing in a long-hitting drill today as the Chicago White Sox romped through their second day of spring practice. Among the day's new arrivals were Catchers Joe Stephenson, recently acquired from the Chicago Cubs, and bespectacled Jim Hill from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league.

War-time destruction of Chinese tung trees and need for tung oil in China is expected to reduce exports of the oil sharply.

MATHERS PLAY GRAVERAETS

Final Home Appearance Of Mustangs Will Be On Saturday

Munising—The Mather high school Mustang basketball team will play their final home game before tournament time Saturday at the Mather gym in an engagement with the Graveraet high school team of Marquette.

Three school games are scheduled for Saturday, Coach Villeneuve announced. The first encounter, the Mather "Whiz Kids", 7th and 8th grade boys, will play a quintet from the Marquette junior high school starting at 6:30 p. m.

The second tilt will be between the reserve team of Mather and the reserve team of Graveraet and is scheduled to begin at 7:15 p. m.</
